

In this month's Hydrafile:*Online Shopping

Our website is proving popular with its new look and online shopping section. We've had some good feedback and most find the new shopping section an invaluable source of information when looking for the right product.

It's easy to use and you can either search by category, brand or by using the built in search engine, you can find a product directly by part number or description.

Remember the site is available 24/7 so if you've run out of time during the day to order that part, you can always logon after hours, place the order and we'll get it dispatched on the day run, first thing the following morning.

New Agency - MICO, Inc.

MICO, based in the USA, designs and manufactures hydraulic components, controls, and brake systems primarily for off-road markets.

They are a solution-minded company capable of developing a concept, creating the design, and manufacturing a quality product.

Hyspecs currently stocks Mico brakes with a view to stocking more Mico product as demand grows. We have access to their full range with very good lead times from the factory.

Price Rise

Price rise message from C.E.O, Richard Krebs:

"It is an unfortunate fact that prices increase over time. It has been almost 2 years since we looked at a price increase. Unfortunately we are now forced to raise selected prices for our products.

Hyspecs continues to be exposed to increased overseas and local freight costs, to add to this pain, our suppliers have again passed on increased material costs particularly cast iron and aluminium. This is as a result of the huge demand increase generated by the strong growth in China. Then of course we have world wide energy prices increasing along with just about everything else. Put all of these factors together and the situation becomes difficult.

The result of this is a 4% price increase for some of our products, effective 1 April 2008. Products not affected are cetop valves, vane pumps, Char-Lynn motors and power steering.

Please know that we have held prices for as long as possible, along with being selective in what lines have changed. This to keep your costs as low as possible."
